The Importance of a Matched Home Comfort System.

A cooling system is made up of individual parts. And, even though each component is separate, they're all designed and engineered to work together as a system. A perfectly balanced system is the best way to get the highest comfort and efficiency. When you match a high efficiency Trane air conditioner with a Trane variable speed gas furnace, you've installed a system that can provide you with complete home comfort.

Air Conditioner:

Trane's high efficiency air conditioners are designed to be reliable, durable and energy efficient. And, the attractive fully protected cabinet design and Weatherguard® top fit neatly alongside your home.

Gas Furnace:

Trane's high efficiency furnaces feature variable speed motors, self-diagnostic controls, a patented, serpentine-shaped heat exchanger and fuel efficient Multi-Port In-Shot burners.

Indoor Cooling Coil:

To deliver the highest efficiency, Trane's indoor Comfort™ cooling coils are matched in size and SEER rating with the outdoor unit.

Air Cleaner:

Removing unwanted particles such as pollen and dust from conditioned air improves system operation and your comfort.

Programmable Thermostat:

Program your comfort just the way you want it. The Trane thermostat makes changes based on your work and home schedule whether you are home or not. Raising or lowering the temperature when you are away saves energy summer or winter.
